

TAKES UP HIS WORK
AS MISSIONARY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Winchester, Va., October 12.—The Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia now has a regular diocesan missionary, or evangelist, in the person of Rev. Nelson Page Dame, who was for many years rector of Christ Church of Winchester, but more recently of St. Paul's Church of Ousting, N. Y. Mr. Dame resigned recently as pastor of the latter church, and is now engaged in his evangelistic work in the Virginia Diocese, which embraces all that portion of Virginia north of the James River.

For many years such work has been carried on by various ministers who have regular charges, and it was the late Albert Baker, of Winchester, for many years senior warden of Christ Church, who saw the need of a man to do mission work and nothing else. He and Mr. Dame were most intimate friends, and when Mr. Baker made his will he set aside a sum of $40,000 for the purpose of establishing and maintaining the office of a diocesan evangelist, whose labors were to be confined exclusively to the Virginia Diocese. When this provision was made, Mr. Baker had his friend, Mr. Dame, in view, as the latter has for many years had a particular liking for that branch of church work.

The bequest made by Mr. Baker became available recently, and Bishop Gibson, of this diocese, at once appointed Mr. Dame to have charge of the work. He has already been assisting Rev. J. R. Ellis in his work among the Blue Ridge Mountain people of Page and Rockingham Counties, and will return to the diocese about October 21 to continue the work, the magnitude of which is much greater than was anticipated when it was begun by Mr. Ellis some years ago.

The family of Mr. Dame, who is a brother of Rev. Dr. William M. Dame and Rev. Dr. George W. Dame, of Baltimore, has been passing the summer in Maine, but Mrs. Dame and the children are now in Alexandria, where the family will reside, Alexandria being a center of Episcopal work and influence. Mr. Dame's mission duties will require him to hold mission services and do evangelistic work all over the diocese, and prominent churchmen are of the opinion that the Episcopal Church will be greatly strengthened in every respect by the work of Mr. Dame.

NOT WANTED

Baltimore Police Have No Charge Against Man Arrested Here.

Michael Miller, thirty-five years old, was arrested yesterday by Detective Bailey, Baltimore County, on a charge of being a fugitive from justice in Baltimore. A telegram from Baltimore later in the day said that Miller was known to the police there, but was not wanted on any charge. Miller was picked up by the detective at the Hotel Grand Central, where he was last week, having a concession at the State Fair.

Colored "Mammy" Found Away.

Fannie Thomas, a colored woman, ninety years old, who had served her time in slavery and who was a nurse for many years in the family of Mrs. Frank Montague, died yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Buried of people knew her. She was famous as a "mammy" of the old type, and was universally respected. The body will be sent to Hanover County for interment.

Boy He Stole Swindler.

Irving Davis, colored, was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Goldsby on a warrant charging him with stealing two suitcases from the Virginia Bonded Warehouse Corporation.

Benefit Performance.

A special benefit performance will be given at the Little Theatre on Thursday, October 17, for the children's ward of the Memorial Hospital.

YOUR'E BILIOUS! YOUR LIVER AND BOWELS ARE INACTIVE—"CASCARETS"

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and constipated bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a wall barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel cheerful and bully for months.

Don't forget your children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too, occasionally.—Advertisement.

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau.

The Times-Dispatch.

309 Bull Street.

Phone Madison 178.

While not charging that any unfair advantage was taken, Southside building contractors are not merely disgruntled, but are extremely sore over the manner in which bids for the construction of the new school buildings, to be erected at a cost of $40,000 in Oak Grove and Swansboro, were secured. The special section at which time the bids were opened, and the contractors not accepting this move and not knowing of it failed to put in their offers, although four had bid on a former occasion.

These four contractors all live within the bounds of the school district and are taxpayers. They feel that they should have been notified that the bids were called for. They say that they could not be expected to watch four or five papers for a month before the voters had given their consent to the erection of the schoolhouse. The contract has not yet been awarded, although the trustees have virtually settled upon the lucky contractor. Several minor changes in the plans will be made before the final contract is built in signed.

Three Ministers to Leave.

Three Southside ministers who have been in this field for many years will at the end of this month take up their duties elsewhere. The Rev. J. J. Fox, for ten years pastor of the Porter Street Presbyterian Church, has accepted a call to the West End Church, of Roanoke. Rev. J. W. Durham, pastor of the Bainbridge Street Baptist Church, has also accepted a call to Roanoke. Both of these clergymen will start in their new charges the first Sunday in November.

The Rev. G. T. Forrester, pastor of the Decatur Street Methodist Church, will be the third to leave. Mr. Forrester has served his four years in this church, and has been assigned to fill another charge. During his pastorate the Decatur Street Church has erected a handsome Sunday-school room, in which the services are now being held. The church proper is now being built. It will probably be completed before December 1. The building will cost $20,000 and will be one of the largest churches on the Southside. Mr. Forrester will be the first pastor to serve this church for the full term of three years, although the church has been established thirty-five years.

Boy Returns to His Home.

Howard Burruss, the fifteen-year-old Southside youth, who was reported as missing from his home, 125 Bainbridge Street, is again safe beneath his paternal roof. The boy, whose mother was a night spinner in the open, returned home yesterday morning to be forgiven. No explanation of his wanderings, other than to call the police of the trail, was made.

Negro Goes to Reformatory.

Admitting that he had extracted several dollars from the cash drawer of Lester Robinson's at Nineteenth Street and Petersburg Turnpike, Russell Hobson, a young colored boy, employed by Robinson to deliver packages, yesterday threw himself upon the mercy of the law. He was given a hearing before Justice H. A. Maurice in Police Court, Part II. The youth of the prisoner gained him admittance to the colored Reformatory in Manassas County.

To Hear Motion for Judgment.

Motion for judgment, instituted by the Middle Atlantic Immigration Company against the Virginia Realty Corporation, will be heard before Judge Ernest H. Wells to-morrow morning in Hustings Court. Part II. Isaac Diggs will appear for the plaintiff and R. H. Talley for the defendant.

Snatching Sells Property.

W. T. Snellings, according to a deed of bargain from the cash drawer of Lester Robinson's at Nineteenth Street and Petersburg Turnpike, yesterday threw himself upon the mercy of the law. He was given a hearing before Justice H. A. Maurice in Police Court, Part II. The youth of the prisoner gained him admittance to the colored Reformatory in Manassas County.

Miss Fitzgerald to Marry.

Invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith W. Fitzgerald, to Mr. Bruce Gregory, have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fitzgerald. The event will be solemnized Tuesday evening, October 22, at 7 o'clock, in the Porter Street Presbyterian Church.

To Lecture on Holy Land.

Illustrative slides, showing scenes which he viewed during his recent travels in Palestine, will be shown by the Rev. J. W. Durham to-night in the Bainbridge Street Baptist Church during a lecture on the Holy Land. Mr. Durham who has made several trips to Palestine and has already given one lecture, is familiar with his subject, and puts it before his hearers in an attractive and entertaining manner.

Meetings to Be Held.

Manchester Council, No. 127, Royal Arcanum, will hold its bi-monthly meeting to-morrow night in Fraternal Hall.

Whatever Circle, King's Daughters, will hold its first full meeting Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. H. Reimann. Delegates to the State convention will be elected.

Evangelist W. W. Smith, of Charlotte, N. C., will preach to-night at the Oak Grove Baptist Church.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Charles' was called to Washington yesterday by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Miss Maude Sowers is visiting her brother in Crewe, Va.

Miss Louise Michaux, of Powhatan, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Lucy Vaden.

Miss Ruth Wolfe, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Louise Pollard, of Ashland, has returned home.

Mrs. E. J. Wedger and daughter, Mrs. Owen S. Lear, of Atlanta, Ga., are the guests of Mrs. A. H. Fitzgerald.

Misses Pattie and Annie Lacy, who have been the guests of Mrs. W. B. Hall, of Forest Hill, have returned to their home at Lynchburg.

R. F. & P. TAXES

Conference Held, but Commission Not Yet Reached.

Another conference on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac tax settlement was held yesterday morning in the office of Governor Mann. The special commission on the part of the State and the officials of the road were both represented.

No information was given to the public, save that no conclusion to the negotiations has yet been reached. It is believed, however, that a compromise is near at hand.

UGLY CHARGES OF GRAFT MADE

Moving Picture Theatres
Said to Be Robbing
Charities.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

London, October 12.—Ugly charges of graft are being made in connection with the takings of the moving picture theatres permitted to remain open in London on Sunday. Although charities are supposed to get 65 per cent of the takings, the great disparity between the box office receipts of the Sunday shows and the disbursements to hospitals and other philanthropic institutions is rather startling.

It is charged that certain favored charities agree to accept donations from the moving picture places without scrutinizing the figures of gross and net takings too closely if they are assured their share will be regular and certain. During the period of nine months, according to the figures submitted to the London County Council, the total receipts amounted to $450,000, while charitable societies benefited to the extent of only $10,000.

The proprietors of the theatres explain these figures by declaring that the expenses of Sunday opening are so great that many times they are at a loss to make a profit. The charities are charged for rent, wear and tear and the operating expenses of the theatre, and it is argued that in the cases of the least scrupulous houses the Sunday opening pays running expenses for a week and naturally there are no net profits left to be shared with charity.

Bitter Fight Is On.

A bitter municipal fight is being waged between the various parties preparing for the approaching council elections in London. They usually attract little attention, but the issue between the Moderates, who now control most of the boroughs, and the Progressives has become more important than the campaign is as exciting as a parliamentary contest. Each borough has its own particular pet problem, but running through all of them is the feeling that the Moderates represent the privately controlled interests while the Progressives stand for the public control of utilities and the like.

Many of the local councils will be split on the question of the control of motor bus traffic, and the Progressives will make a strong fight for the regulation of this most formidable competitor of the municipally-owned street car systems. Even the Moderates will be compelled to bear a fair share of the cost of keeping up the roads.

In some districts of London the councils are almost as backward as the old vestries which they succeeded, and in these boroughs the Labor party, as well as the Progressives, will make a determined effort to overthrow the Moderates, who are accused of obstructing the most elementary and necessary housing and sanitary regulations. It is expected that the campaign for social reform will bring out a number of women candidates for the councils.

Outraged Cause Alarm.

The loud outcry in London against the motor omnibus companies owing to the numerous accidents caused by their vehicles has caused those companies much alarm. The companies have now begun a campaign to detect and punish their drivers who exceed the speed limit.

This step has irritated the drivers, who already cherish numerous grievances, and it is likely that London will again be in the throes of a great transport strike unless the complaints of the bus men are heeded.

The drivers declare that they cannot possibly keep up their schedules without violating the speed limits. They further complain that the parsimony of the companies prevents them from keeping just within the margin, for they are not provided with speedometers.

There are also allegations that the companies actively discourage unionism among their employees, and this and other grievances are being taken up by the unions concerned, and serious trouble may result.

Abolish Mounted Infantry.

The mounted infantry of the British army will be abolished very shortly in all probability under the reform scheme introduced by the new War Secretary, Colonel John Seely. It has been pointed out for some time by military authorities that the mounted infantry as now constituted serves no useful purpose beyond keeping alive a dangerous heresy inherited from the abnormal conditions of the South African War.

Good infantry battalions have been crippled to supply indifferent cavalry troops, and the day of the horse, even for the rapid conveyance of infantry, is past, for this work was done better by motor lorries.

The cavalry units set free by the abolition of the mounted infantry will be used for the nucleus of another cavalry brigade, which has long been desired by the general staff.

Students Back at Work.

Over 170,000 students this month returned to their work at the evening schools of the London County Council after the summer recess. There hundred schools of various kinds are maintained by the council for night instruction, and there is still plenty of room for more students. In fact, the youth of London has not availed itself of the splendid facilities for technical and general instruction provided in nearly the numbers expected.

The authorities argue that this is due chiefly to the cheap amusements provided for the Londoner, and not because he is less ambitious than his country cousin.

Besides the usual technical, engineering and domestic science courses a separate school for waiters has recently been started. This school is designed to check the German invasion, which has practically driven the British waiter from the field. In addition to practical table service and pantry work, the waiter students are taught something of French, the essentials of a good education are given to them in the form of English, geography and arithmetic.

After River Thieves.

River thieves on the Thames will soon have to carry on their operations in face of a police force with modern equipment. Experiments are proceeding with the object of providing a suitable motor-boat to replace the clumsy old converted rowboats which now handicap the efforts of the river police.

The river force, consisting of 120 men, was recently supplied with rowboats fitted with gun engines. These craft, but slightly faster than when rowed by hand, are so noisy that the river pirates are given ample warning of the presence of the police.

Although the pilage of the river thieves as compared with the days of Dickens is small, their numbers are increasing, and constant vigilance is required by the police to check their depredations.

My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It dulled my mind. It undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was dulled and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality.

But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it. FREE. Write me promptly.
